Recipe of the month

Nutella-Stuffed Strawberries

12 large fresh strawberries | 1/4 cup chopped hazelnuts
1/4 cup Nutella | Confectioners' sugar chips, melted
1 cup milk chocolate

Prep Time: 15 min. + chilling Yield: 1 dozen

- Remove stems from strawberries. Using a paring knife, cut out centres; pipe Nutella into strawberries.
- Insert a toothpick into the side of each strawberry. Holding toothpick, quickly dip stem end of strawberry into melted chocolate; allow excess to drip off. Sprinkle with hazelnuts; place strawberries on a waxed paper-lined baking sheet, point side up. Remove toothpicks; refrigerate strawberries until set. Just before serving, dust with confectioners' sugar.

Everybody's Talking

Hanging loose: A sloth found itself in a little bit of trouble when it made its way up an electrical pole in Taraza, a town in northwestern Colombia. Perhaps disoriented, it swung itself out onto live wires. Town locals noticed the animal's predicament and worried for the animal's safety. They called electrical workers to come to the rescue. The Empresas Publicas de Medellin public safety workers were extremely careful with their attempts to get the sloth to safety, an operation that took about 20 minutes. Everyone witnessing the event was pleased to know that the animal was released back into the wild, where it could find plenty of safer "wires" to crawl around and hang on.

Good food: On the Caribbean island of Puerto Rico, food stalls called chinchorros are part of the local economy. These ubiquitous stands serve all kinds of fare, ranging from bowls of rice and peas, to skewers of beef, to decadent fritters and croquetas de jamón y queso (ham, cheese, and potato croquettes). The food stalls are not fancy, but they attract locals and tourists alike, who might wander or even dance between the stalls. Live bands sometimes play, and children romp around together while their parents visit. Some chinchorros have been owned by the same family for many generations, and all of them contribute to preserving the island's vibrant food culture.

Pig visitor: A men's club in County Durham in England got a surprise visitor: a pig! The Easington Colliery Club's members couldn't believe their eyes when the black-and-tan farm animal sauntered into the premises. The animal turned out to be a friendly critter, as he strolled through the facility looking for an ear rub and a meal. Eventually, patrons managed to lure the little porker outside using a few morsels of food. They confined him to a nearby garden and posted the story on social media. In only about 15 minutes, someone identified the pig, who was believed to have been named Roddy. The owner soon arrived to take him home.

Sweeping success: Most people think brooms are primarily for sweeping floors, and they may be right. However, the brooms made at Berea College in the U.S. state of Kentucky are so beautifully crafted that they are more apt to be hung as decoration. These unique brooms are handmade by students at this liberal arts college. Broomcorn (Sorghum vulgare) is dyed various colours, which the students might braid into elaborate designs. They make 15 different types of brooms of various sizes. Founded in 1855, Berea was the South's first interracial, co-educational institution, and began making brooms in 1920. Today, students produce about 5,000 of these well-made brooms every year, and the product is in high demand.
