Everybody's Talking

Cold apartment: No one would dispute that the weather in Singapore gets really hot, but few would say that nine air conditioners are necessary in a four-room apartment. That is how many of the units a man named Huang installed in his small flat. The apartment got so chilly that several neighbours complained, saying their units were damp and moldy. The inhabitant in the flat above, named Liu, had excessive condensation on his cold floors. Huang said he needed the cool air due to a health condition, but Lui's floor was often wet because of it. They compromised, with Huang agreeing to shorten how long he ran his air conditioners and to only use two at night.

Lost, but found again: Misplacing an item of clothing can be annoying. Did you leave it at a friend's or relative's house, or maybe in the bottom of a suitcase that you put away after a trip? Losing the blue-and-white dress that Judy Garland wore in the 1939 movie The Wizard of Oz must have been a whole other matter. In the 1970s, the dress was donated to the drama department at Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. (U.S.). But soon after, no one could find it. During recent renovations, a drama department lecturer noticed a garbage bag atop the faculty mailboxes. Inside was a shoebox containing the missing dress.

Bottle houses: Robert Bezeau knows that plastic bottles are a huge threat to the environment. So he collected tens of thousands of these discarded items and used them to build a little community. Called Plastic Bottle Village, it is located in the province of Bocas del Toro in Panama. Originally from Canada, Bezeau did not complete the feat himself; he asked local folks to help. The structures are made by filling metal cages with bottles, and then attaching the cages together. One bottle building, the four-story Castle Inspiration, can be booked for overnight stays. The whole idea of the project is to reuse plastic to prevent it from ending up in a landfill.

Slow but sure: Australia holds an annual ultra-marathon during which competitors run from Sydney to Melbourne. At 875 kilometres (543.7 mi.) long and taking as long as five days to complete, that event is not for the faint of heart. Needless to say, competitors are usually young and in excellent physical condition. That is, except for the inaugural event in 1983, which was won by Cliff Young, a 61-year-old potato farmer. He completed the whole race wearing his work boots and overalls. His gait was a slow but sure shuffle, and he didn't stop. He died a hero in 2003 at age 81, and by then had raised money for charitable causes by participating in other endurance events.

Uncountable: The sun that shines on Earth every day is estimated to be one of 100 to 400 billion, or more, stars in the Milky Way galaxy. With millions of other galaxies, the suns in the universe are uncountable.

Car problems: The Ford Edsel was a car model that was short-lived. First produced in 1957, it was discontinued after only a couple of years because of a national recession, quality issues, and an appearance that people didn't like.

Man vs. machine: In 1996, chess player Garry Kasparov played against "Deep Blue," a computer. In a six-game match, Kasparov lost one, tied two, and won three. In 1997, he played an upgraded Deep Blue, which was proclaimed the winner.
